Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The Abstract contains legal phraseology.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4 and 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eckhardt (U.S. Patent 3,452,863) in view of Wallner et al. (U.S. Patent 5,480,070).

Eckhardt shows in Figures 7 and 8 two counter-rotating screws 314 and 315 mounted in a transition duct 316 at a constant clearance. Not shown are the screws as being cantilevered at one end. However, shown by Wallner et al. is the teaching of a cantilevered screw. To do such with Eckhardt would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art as it would eliminate a bearing and end joint.

Re claim 2, the screws are out of phase so that they don't contact one another.

Re claim 3, the shown clearance in Figure 7 relative to duct 316 fairly teaches the claimed range.

Re claim 4, there is an inlet opening above and adjacent the main passage.

Re claim 9, there is a restriction as is broadly claimed.

Re claim 10, the use of a vacuum at the outlet is a well know and convention design expediency.

Re claim 11, shown are two blades.

Claims 4-8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
